Responsible to: Professionally and managerially to Director of Public Health but also accountable to the Senior Management Team of LBL

Responsible for: Provide leadership on the delivery of the NIHR HDRC Lambeth HEART program deliverables and milestones

Context

The National Institute for Health and Care Research (NIHR) is the nation's largest funder of health and care research and has a mission to improve the health and wealth of the nation through research. It does this by:

- Funding, supporting and delivering high quality research that benefits the NHS, public health and social care
- Engaging and involving patients, carers and the public in order to improve the reach, quality and impact of research
- Attracting, training and supporting the best researchers to tackle the complex health and care challenges of the future
- Investing in world-class research infrastructure and a skilled research delivery workforce to accelerate translation of discoveries into improved treatments and services
- Partnering with other public funders, charities and industry to maximise the value of research to patients and the economy
- Funding applied global health research and training, via Official Development Assistance (ODA), to meet the needs of the poorest people in low and middle-income countries

The Health Determinants Collaboration (HDRC) is a new element of NIHR research infrastructure funded by its Public Health Programme that will be based in local government. The purpose is to enable local authorities to become more research-active, undertake new research and use existing evidence to inform our decision making, and undertake evaluation activities.
