| What were the protesters doing? | A large group of 15 people were praying on their knees. Another few were stood holding rosaries. Another couple were handing out leaflets. |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Disgusted. It's inhumane, it's dangerous and should not be legal. |
| Comment/report | They seem to congregate on Sundays only. After Church I assume. |

| What were the protesters doing? | Praying quite loudly. |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Angry, sad and exposed. I have used this clinic in the past and I wouldn't have entered if they were there. |

| What were the protesters doing? | Handing out flyers |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Really upset, angry. It was just one guy, and he wasn't being pushy. But it upset me anyway. I was at the clinic to attend a counselling session one week after my termination, and was already feeling emotionally vulnerable. |

| What were the protesters doing? | Shouting, waving bibles and placards with fetuses on them. |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Irritated, mostly - but if I had been young or using their services it could have been horrible intimidating. A long time ago I had an abortion at the same clinic. I didn't encounter any protesters but it really worried and preoccupied me preparing to do something that was already difficult. |

| What were the protesters doing? | Standing outside the clinic muttering prayers with small signs and rosary beads. A young woman was standing near them, looking anxious and as though waiting for a lift. |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Distressed and appalled. What right do they have to pressurise women exercising their legal right? |

| What were the protesters doing? | Standing outside a Marie Stopes holding banners with graphic pictures they claimed were of aborted babies. |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Absolutely fucking furious. How DARE they upset and intimidate women who are in a vulnerable position and going through something difficult? After speaking with the clinic I phoned 101 and made a complaint, and the police came and moved them on. I'll do it every time I see them, until my dying day. |

| What were the protesters doing? | I have encountered the protestors on numerous occasions over the years whilst walking past with and without my children. I have on several occasions been approached by them wanting my support and telling me how they save these 'babies' They have often commented on my children in buggy and how they help stop women making the mistake of killing their babies. Totally unnecessary, I'm simply walking past |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | Uncomfortable, angry, sorry for people who have made the choice to visit the clinic for whatever reasons as I suspect this is difficult enough for them without having people outside telling them how wrong and evil they are. It made my older children feel uncomfortable too. |
| Comment/report | These people have been outside Streatham for as long as we've lived here (8 yrs). They need to be banned! |

| What were the protesters doing? | Standing at both gates, first man asked if he could give me a leaflet, I declined and told him to go away, then other 'protester' came forward and said they could help me. |
| How did their presence and/or activity make you feel? | I think it's absolutely disgusting they are legally 'allowed' to do what they're doing. It made an extremely difficult situation even more horrendous than it could/should of been. I also feel I need to state how angry it made me, and if I was on my own I would of assaulted them, thus resulting in an awful situation. I suffer from mental health problem and I felt the comments made my 'protesters' significantly increased my anxiety and anger. No one should ever have to deal with that and it deeply saddens me nothing can 'legally' be done to remove them. |
