

Waterloo Library is moving!

From mid-July, Waterloo library will move from Lower Marsh and have a new home at the refurbished Oasis Centre, at 1 Kennington Road (opposite Lambeth North Tube station). The current library will remain open until the move. The new Waterloo library at the Oasis centre will have:

- Longer opening hours: 9am to 6pm Monday – Friday; and 9.30 – 5.30pm on Saturdays.
- A self-service library, with Lambeth librarians on site every day for up to two hours to help users, join members, answer enquiries.
- Oasis Centre staff will be managing the rest of the building at all times.
- Regular reading groups and children’s storytimes sessions.
- A café where library users and other members of the public can enjoy refreshments.

How to get to the new library:

Nearest Tube station: Lambeth North*, Bakerloo line (90 meters, 1min walk)

Nearest Rail station: Waterloo Station (0.4 miles, 8 min walk)

Buses: 12, 53, 148, 453, C10, 59, 159.

For travel advice search:

tfl.gov.uk/plan-a-journey

*NB: The station is due to close in July until early 2017, while lifts are replaced.

The relocated Waterloo library at the Oasis Centre will continue to provide a wide range of books, DVDS, e-books and magazines and have free access to computers and Wi-Fi, study space, scanning and printing facilities and a wide range of information.

The Waterloo Jobshop at 114 Lower Marsh will remain open.

For more information or help please:

- visit www.lambeth.gov.uk/lambeth-libraries-faq
- call 020 7926 0750
- email libraries@lambeth.gov.uk

Lambeth